ONLINE ONLY
By giving permission to publish your Article “online only,” you allow the publisher the option of not including your Article in the print issue, except by listing in the Table of Contents in the “online only” section. Your Article will still appear in Advance Access and will be published online. This option will expedite the publication date of your Article.

USE OF PRE-PRINTS AND POST-PRINTS (as defined in the Notes below)
On publication of your Article in the Journal, you are not required to remove any previously posted PRE-PRINT versions from your own personal Web site or that of your employer or free public servers of pre-prints and/or articles in your subject area, provided that (1) you include a link (URL) to the published version of the Article on the Journal’s Web site; AND (2) the Journal is attributed as the original place of publication, with the correct citation details given.

You may post the POST-PRINT version of the Article (but not the published version itself) on your own Web site, your institution’s Web site, and in institutional or subject-based repositories, such as PubMed Central and the Oxford Eprints service, PROVIDED THAT the Article is not made publicly available until 24 MONTHS after the online date of publication and that (1) you include a link (URL) to the published version of the Article on the Journal’s Web site; and (2) the Journal is attributed as the original place of publication, with the correct citation details given.

If work on your Article was funded in whole or in part by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ National Institutes of Health (NIH), you may be required to upload the accepted version of the manuscript of the Article to NIH’s digital archive, PubMed Central (PMC). If when submitting your Article, you identify it as having been sponsored by the NIH, the final published version will then be sent to PMC for them to include on their platform. NIH-funded articles that are open access will be available immediately, and those that are not open access will be available after 12 months.

FREE LINK TO PUBLISHED ARTICLE
On publication of your Article, you will receive a URL giving you access to the published Article on the Journal’s Web site, and information on use of this link.

GRATIS COPY
You and your coauthors will each receive one copy of the Journal issue in which the Article appeared.

EDUCATIONAL USE
